

I opened the door to an exhausted looking young couple. The woman was heavily pregnant.

“Have you any room?” the man asked.

“I’m afraid not, but you can sleep in the stable if you like,” I replied.

